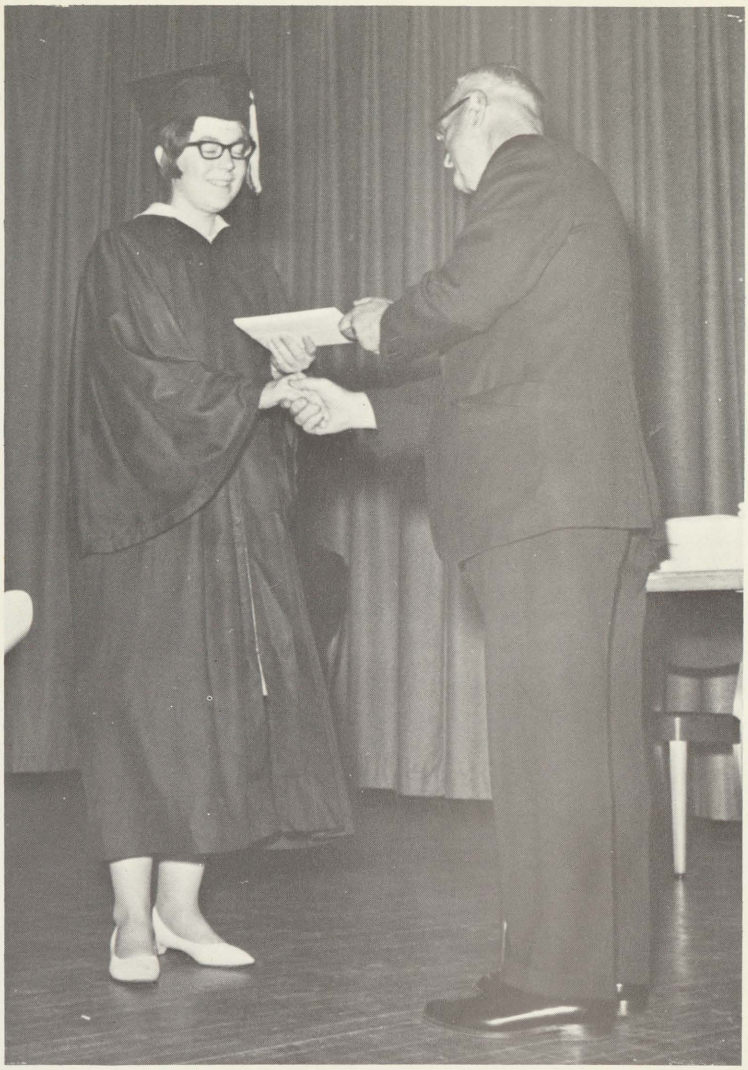
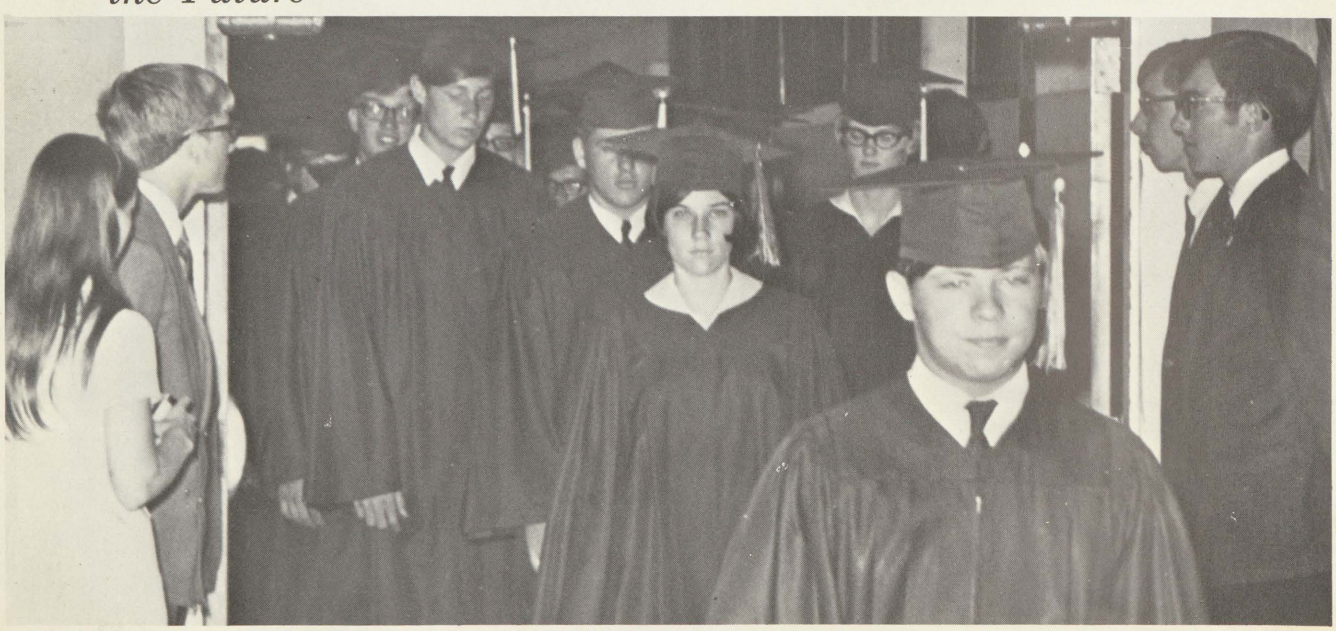
June 5, 1969 — A Time to Remember A Time to Look Toward the Future



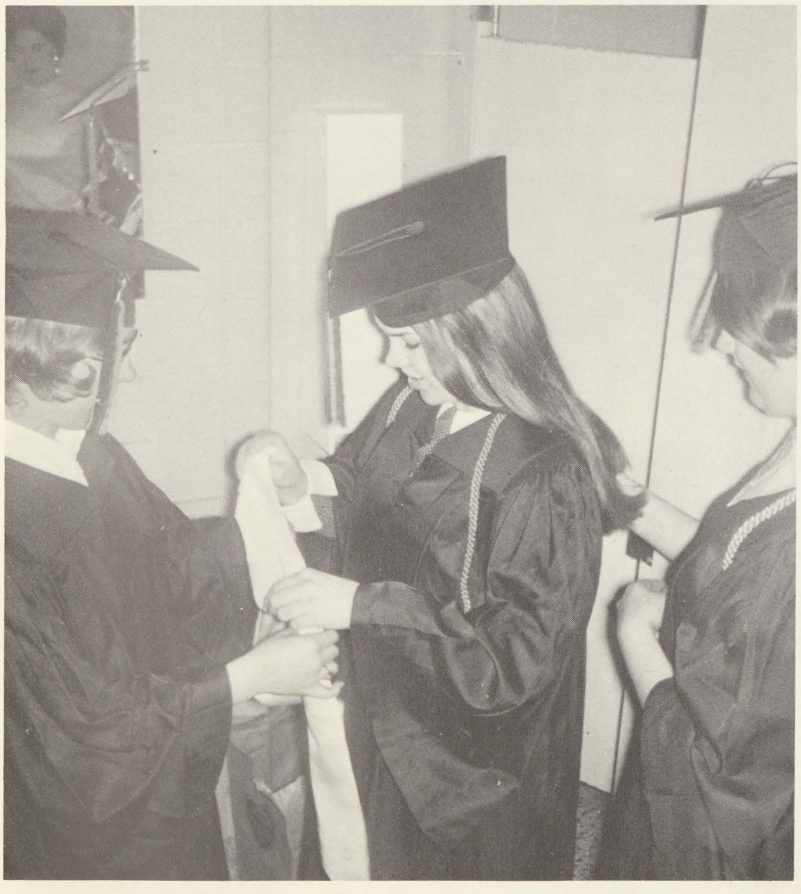
Every graduate feels differently when they receive their diploma. June DuRussell seems to be thinking, "I can't believe it, I've made it!"



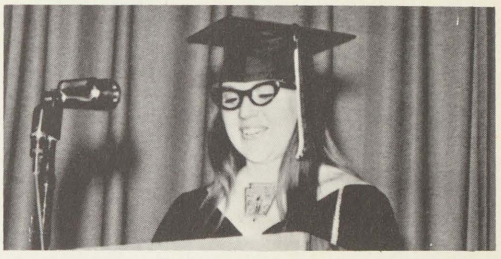
"Pomp and Circumstance" sets the mood as each senior walks in.

Everyone feels a combination of gladness and sadness as they graduate, as Sue Janson and Jane Wylie's faces show.

Kathy Strayer gave a moving valedictory address.



Liz Mossner, Kathi Szekely, and DeAnne Gruber help each other get ready for the big evening ahead of them.



Jane Wylie gives the salutatory address.

Now, as graduates, we prepare for the future. Some of us will be far from our homes and our familiar surroundings. Then after having assumed our place in the world, we will, as voyagers having crossed an unknown sea, sit back and think of all that has occured. We will muse over the history which we made at R.H.S. by our very presence, the things we saw during our four years of high school: the people we met, the ideas we formed, the spirit that is R.H.S. - the very place where basic formations of character were nurtured. But the future awaits us ...

Awards and recognition were the topic for the night. The outstanding student in each of the various educational departments were announced along with those receiving scholarships, citizenship and honor roll awards. The highlight of the evening was, of course, the announcement of valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of 1969 with much excitement immediately following. As you can see, the class of 1969 has acquired honors that contain pride and integrity. We only hope that the future holds for the following graduating classes even more promise and achievements.

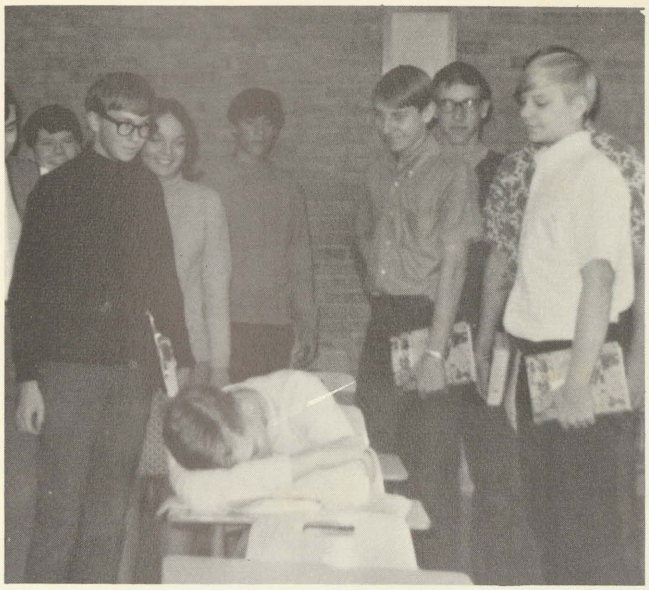
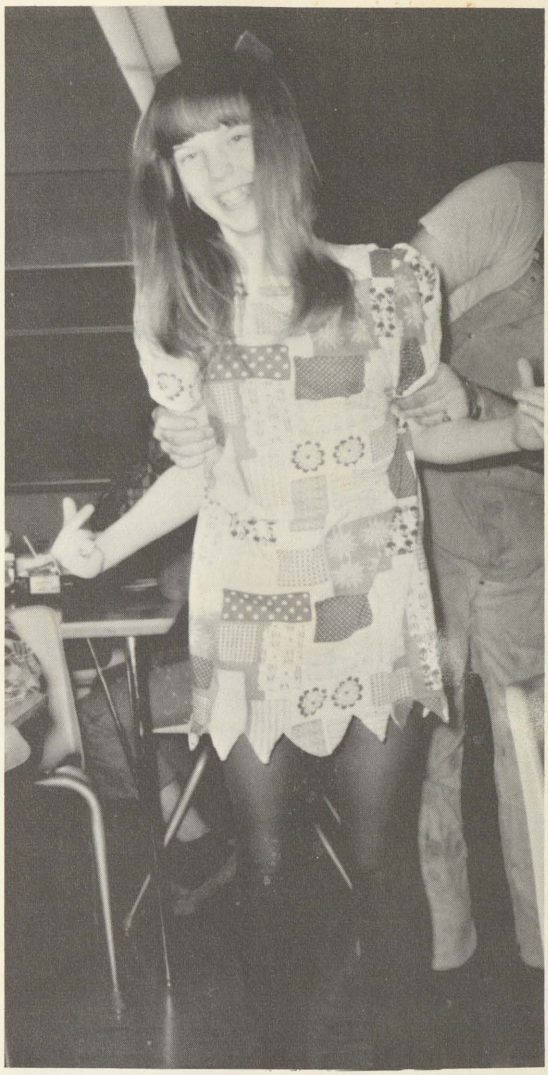
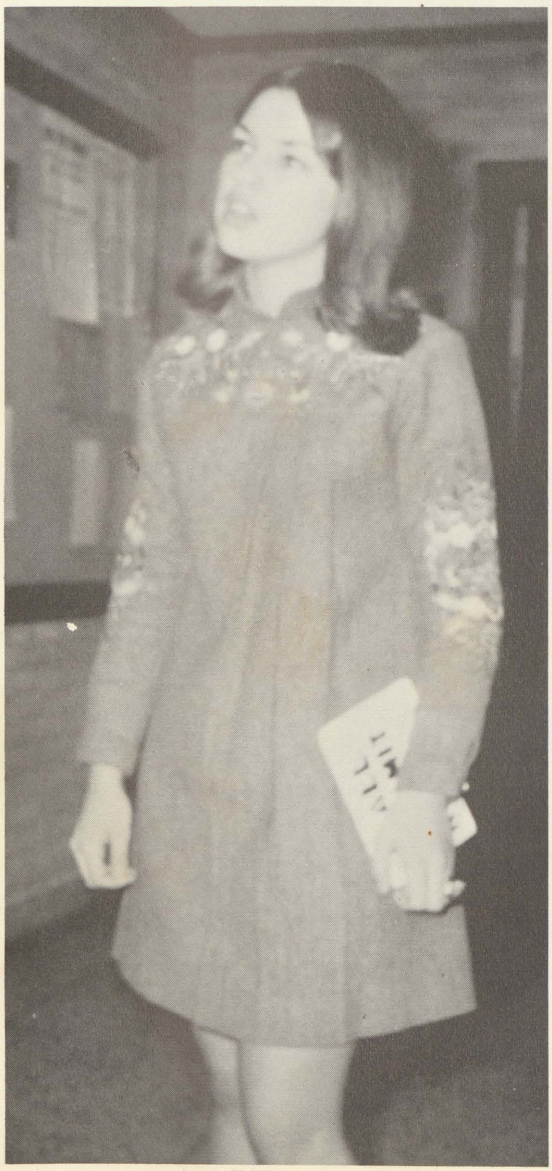
Worked Towards the Best Prom Ever



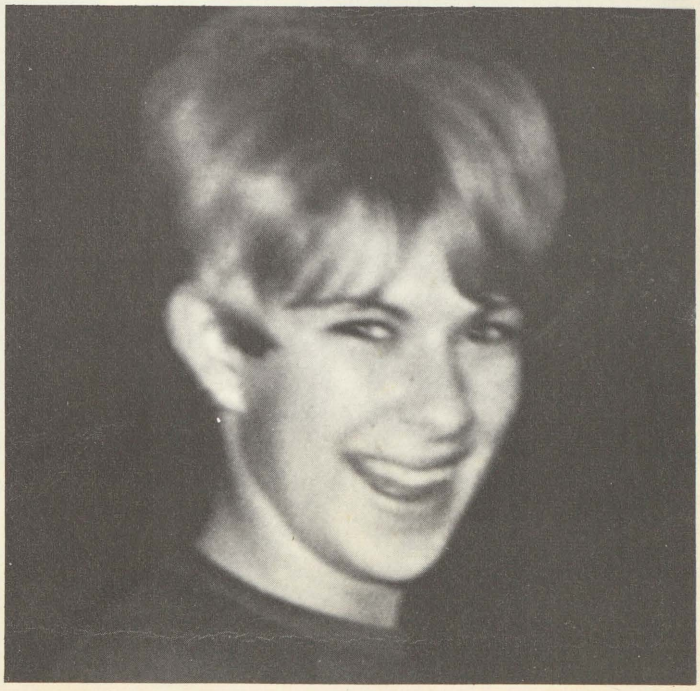
Does sleep make a boring class better, Glenn?



"Look at me, look at me as I was dressed Sadie Hawkin's week!"



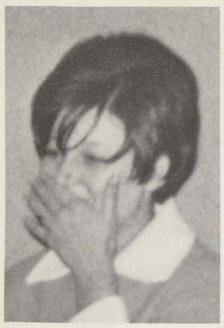
"Now what did I do wrong?"

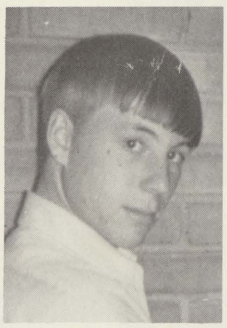


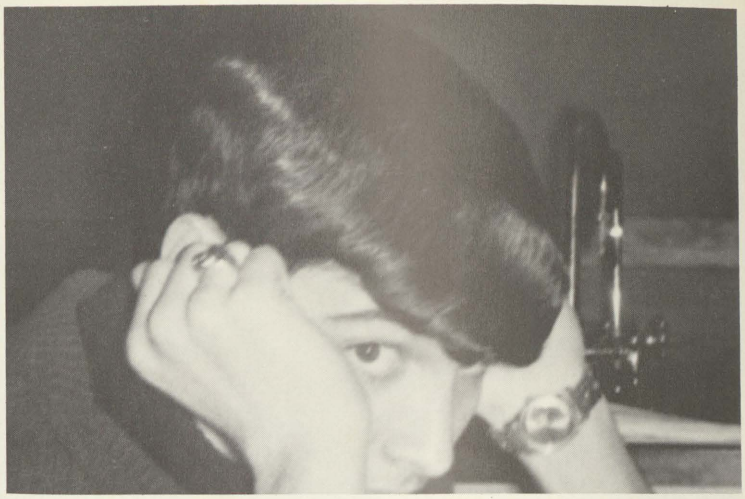
"Blow in my ear and I'll follow you anywhere."

The Many Expressions

The juniors face the future with varied attitudes.

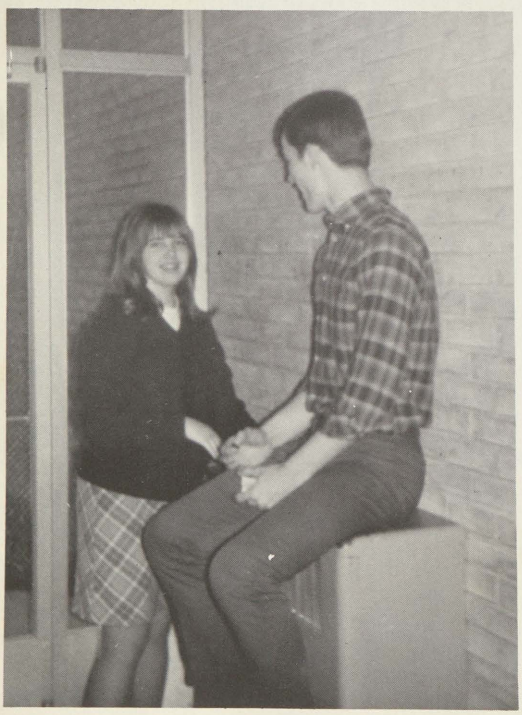




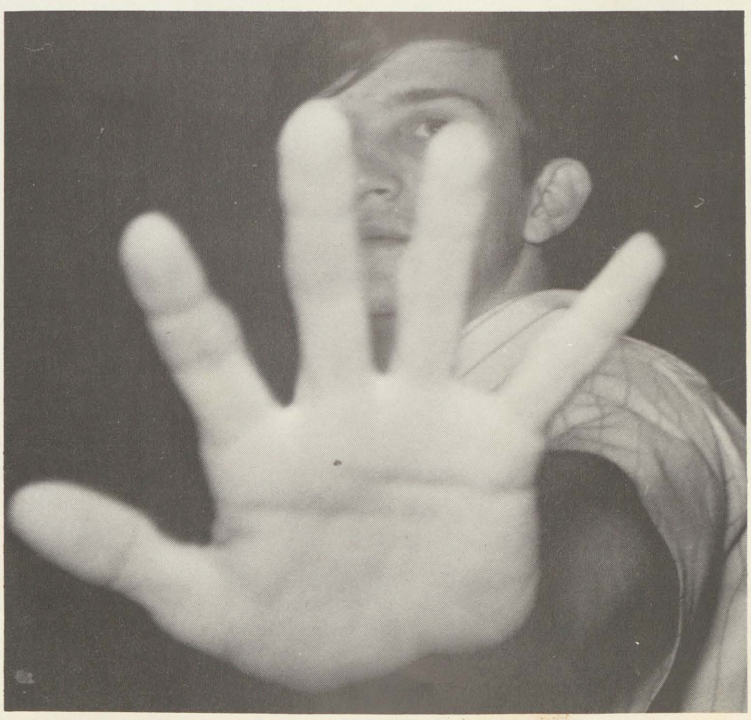


Cheer up, Tim! Only one more year to go!

Dave knows the story.



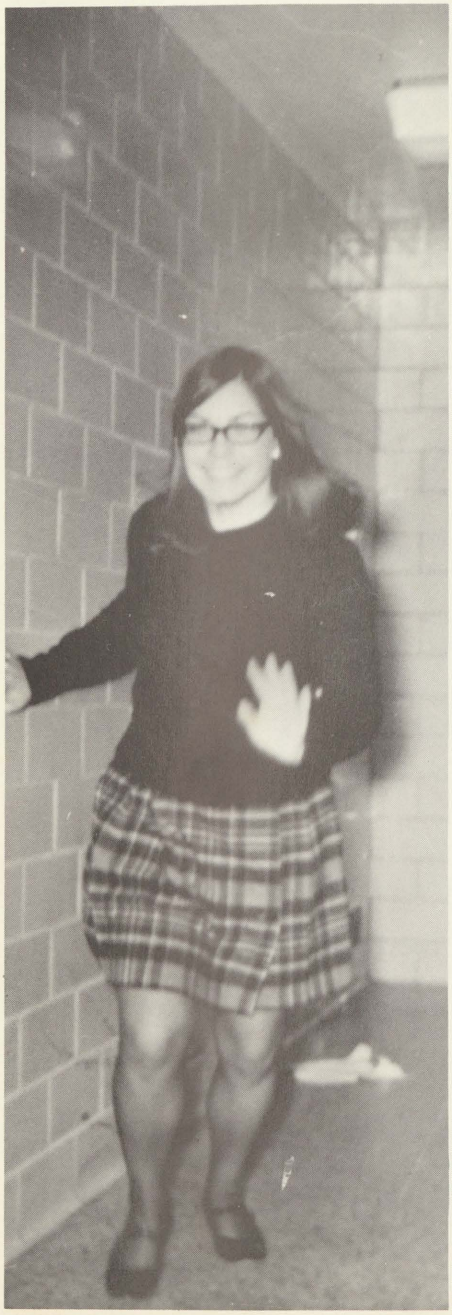
A true friend is the best possession.



Rolin always seems to have his hands in something.

Of the Class of '70

Spirited juniors yell the battle cry at the pep rally.



Elaine Buetow has always been inquisitive about the boy's bathroom. Judging from the smile on her face, she found something interesting.

Distressed.

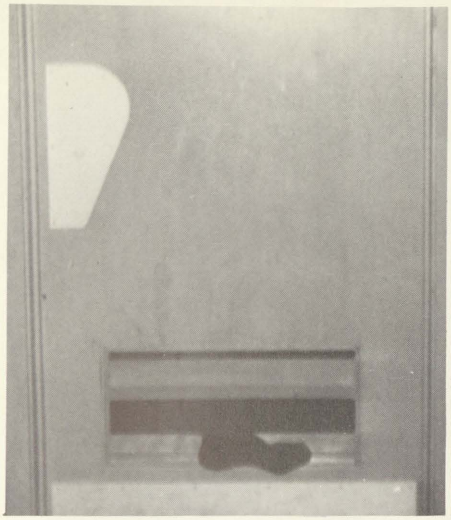
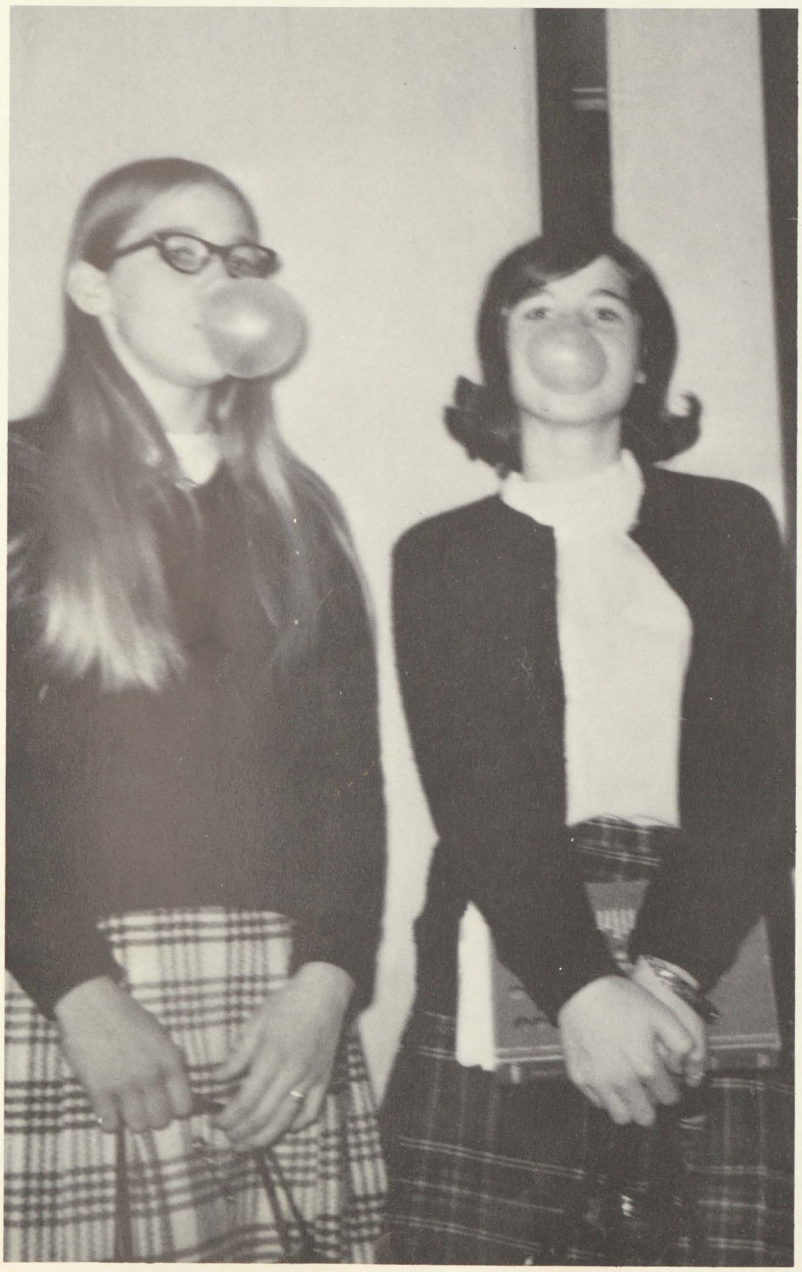
And Desire to Keep Reese High on Top



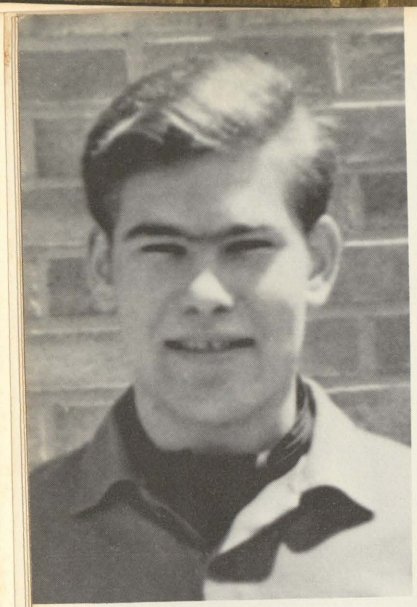
"???"

"Fight ... tonight!"

Is that what the freshman girls do in their spare time?



"Give us more, more, more of those bubble gum bubbles."



Very happy newcomers.

Alfredo Kaintz came to Reese from LaPlata, Argentina. Alfredo lives with his father who is a welding teacher at a technological high school, his mother who is a clerk, and his 14 year old brother. Alfredo is 17 and has one year of school to complete when he returns. He plans to work after he finishes school and also to study electronics. Alfredo said the best things in the U.S. are the schools, the highways, the girls, and the people in general.

A busy day at Greenfield Village, eh, Alfredo.

With the goal of creating more spirit for future homecomings, the Senior Class of '69 initiated the new traditions of a pre-game pep rally and bonfire, parade and floats. Where did the enthusiasm and energy come from? No one really knows. All of a sudden, Reese High School was one spirit moving towards one goal - the greatest homecoming in Reese's history.

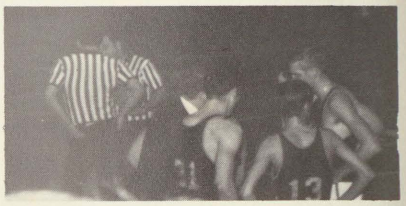
To Glory in Victory We Must Know Defeat



The 1968-69 Rockets were a young team this year with three sophomores in the starting line-up. The season started out slow; however, they showed considerable improvement during the last few games. John Schluckbier, a senior, made all-conference.

Skiing isn't that bad, is it Kay and Janice?

This year the newborn Ski Club set a new pace for the winter season. To start out, twenty-five young pioneers wandered the frontier - namely Bintz's Ski Mountain. The end of the season was highlighted by a trip to Cabrafae. Here the self-supported club experienced happenings of once in a lifetime.

Look at our busy-bodies!

The average week would have been very boring if it hadn't been for our Student Council, who kept the whole school entertained with assemblies.

Putting on programs was merely one small purpose of the club. It gave the students of similar interests a chance to share their favorite activities.

The Student Council brought pride to RHS, the pride that comes from accomplishment when the job has been well done.

True Talent!

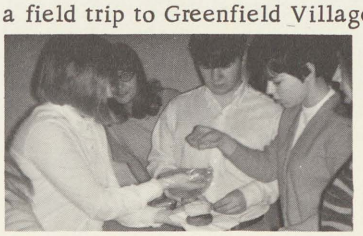
NEW MEMBERS: FIRST ROW: Michele Markel, Tom Sylvester, Nancy Babechenko, Carl Litchfield, Linda Avery. SECOND ROW: Mary Bierlein, Ken Munsch, Nancy Seney, Gary Solgat, Denise DuRussel, Jerry Gillig and Lynn Schafsnitz. Missing: DeAnne Gruber, Carol Manley, and Marsha Rohloff.

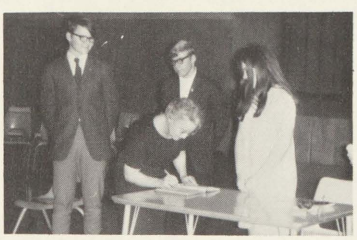
Brains, character, leadership, plus imagination made the NHS something more than just a name in 1969. For the first time, the club became active, promoting many new activities, including the donut sales during noon hour, car washes, a tutoring service, and a new and interesting initiation ceremony for the new members. The funds earned by the club purchased cowls for the graduating members to be used for the coming years and financed a field trip to Greenfield Village.

The day of the car wash was freezing, so Nancy S. and Jane W. put their noggins together and came up with mops to keep their patties from freezing.



Slurp! Any question as to why the donut sale was a success?

Evaluating report cards for the honor roll was one of their jobs.



The highlight and surprise of the induction ceremony was making Mrs. June Stockenauer, our wonderful, do-gooder secretary, an honorary member.

Doesn't it make you wonder what caused those delightful expressions at the reception following the induction ceremony?

The students working in the library proved to be a great help to teachers and students. Their duties are many which include filing, working at the desk, and helping students locate books. Without these students' help, our high school library would not be a thing of great quality.

The thankless job of the Attendance Takers was carried on by those students who were more than willing to walk the halls. They also took care of the odd jobs around the office.

Many students take time out during their busy schedule to help both the elementary and high school teachers. This not only helps the teachers, but it helps the students as well by giving them experience. It is through this program that many choose their life's vocation.

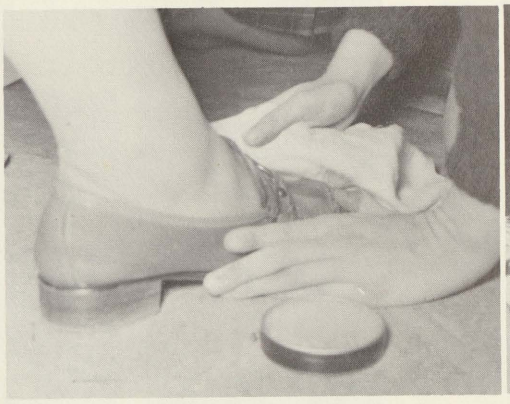
First Year Club Does Worthwhile Jobs

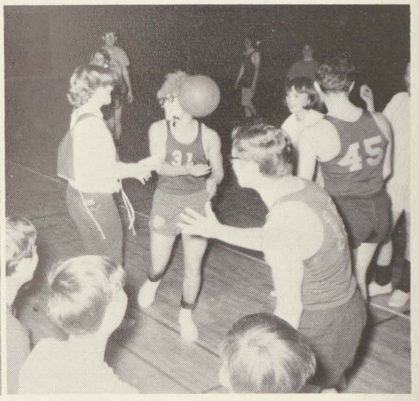
About 100 concerned senior and junior students who have a vital need to be a part of helping to solve some of the problems of the community and of the world have formed a club under the supervision of Mr. Don Hinman.

They are concerned and through the service club the students hope to prove that they are good, solid citizens who are interested in progressive methods of solving some of these problems.

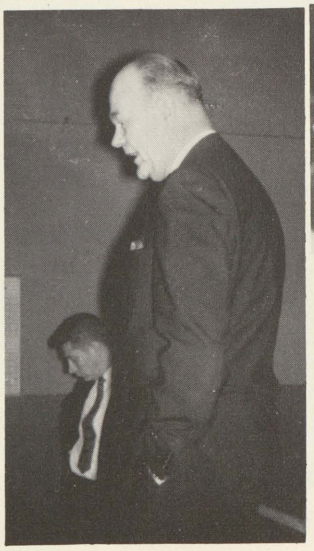
Among the projects carried out this year have been to improve the village park, landscape the school court, send money to Biafra, visit convalescent homes, and send health kits to Vietnamese children. To finance these projects the club has held shoe shines, a bake sale, a basketball game with cake raffle, a neck-in, and a pretty-feet contest.



Weekly shoeshines helped improve the footwork at R.H.S.



Don't argue with the referee.



Dr. Dunn explains the millage problem.

A successful project means a lot of planning before hand.

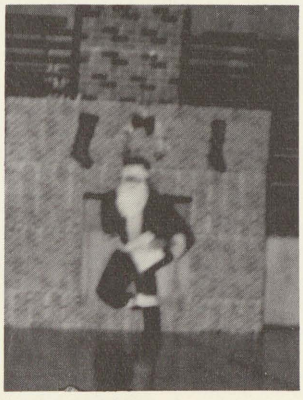
The "Neck-In" provided a lot of surprises for all.

Assemblies Add Interest to the Day's Routine

Of the many professional assemblies presented this year, one was on handwriting analysis. After some important points on the subject were discussed, several students allowed their handwriting to be analyzed. Each person's personality was pinpointed, especially sophomore Sherry Haske's, whom he described as a natural "Ham."

Charlie Weber awaits his handwriting analysis.

The Senior Home Ec Club presented this year's Christmas Assembly. Skits on mistletoe mischief; Santa Claus; and Christmas carols were in the program.



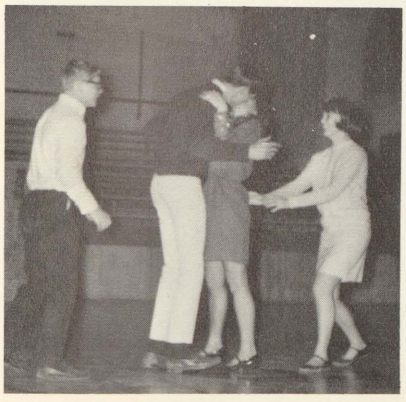
Santa arrives.

Mrs. Allen receives her gift from Santa.

What a smooch!!

Doug A. and Sue J. get in on the fun.

Vikki would rather kiss than fight.



Amy Rupp and Bob Bender needed a little push by Sue J. and Randy W. to overcome shyness.

Reflections

"m m m m m m m m"

Spirit and the R.H.S. Cheerleaders are synonomous as they lead the students in a cheer at the games.

Senior Week Added Spice to the Last School Days of the Class of '69

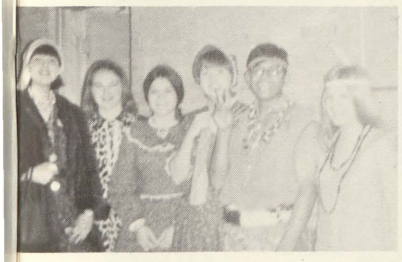
Whew-Whew-oooo

The "3" Lil' Bears

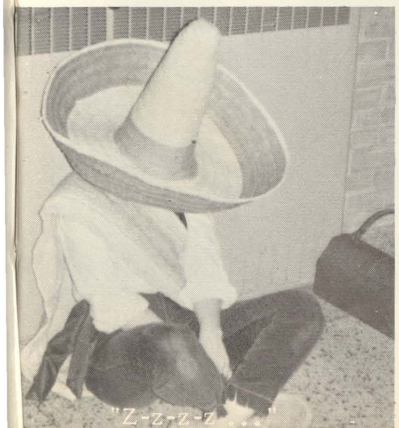
Us "Adults" felt like little kids again riding the "choo choo" at the Detroit Zoo.

Imagination and spirited fun made up Senior Week. The Senior Class started this new event in the hopes that it will become a tradition for future years. Senior Week began with the Senior Class trip to the Detroit Zoo. Bright Day, Character of the Past Day, Hobo Day, and Blue Jean Day followed with only seniors participating and the underclassmen carrying books, opening doors, and paying respect to their "elders." Besides being let out of classes early all these things combined to make it a very nice week indeed.

Fun in the Sun



Character of the Past Day



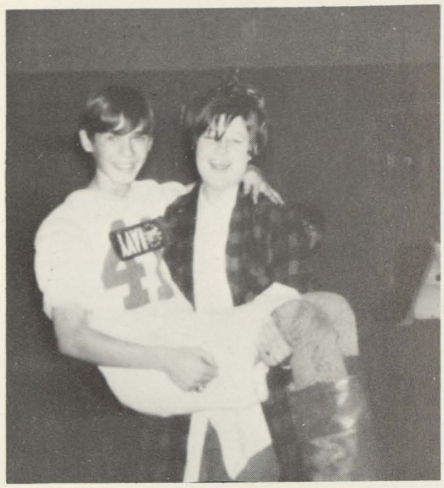
"Z-z-z-z . . ."

"We're segregated"

Bright Day

The Beat Goes On

All brawn and no brain, Glenn?



"Where's the threshold?"

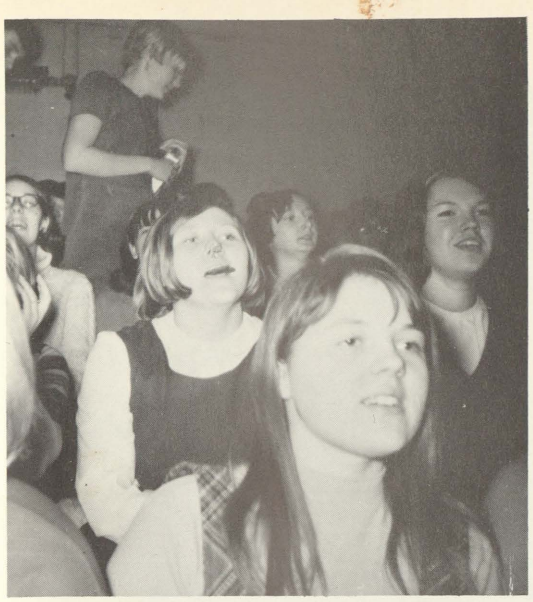
Tongue trouble, Ellis?

Mary Kendall and WHO?

The SNOWBALL was sponsored by the Class of '69.

Hanky Panky or ... a polka?

What a "bod!"



Enthusiastic seniors yell at one of the pep rallies.

"It's the kind of thing you really have to experience to understand."

Somebody up there doesn't like me.

Times Gone by

Security is having naturally straight hair.

Innocence?

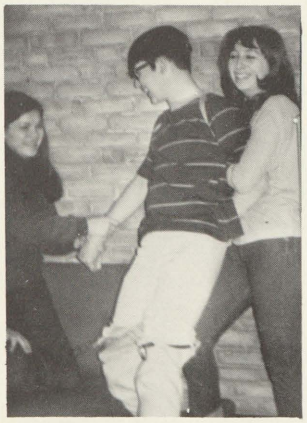
Looks like a scene from "Laugh-In"

"Oh my aching head."

The Supervisor

"... not by the hairs of my chinney chin chin."

"Come on you guys 'n' yell."



He must have charisma.

"Aw, ya should'na done it."

The Swinger

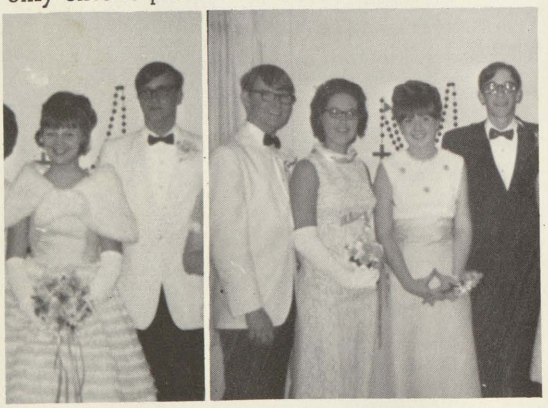
Some days get to be a little too much for everyone.

The spectator buses were an excellent opportunity for socializing.

Nancy Stockmeyer, Mr. Miller and his date dance to the music of the Noel Peterson Quartet.

Nearest Thing to Heaven

Bill Palm, Trifle Felske and their dates, Nancy Babechenko and DeAnne Gruber weren't the only ones to pose in the love seat.

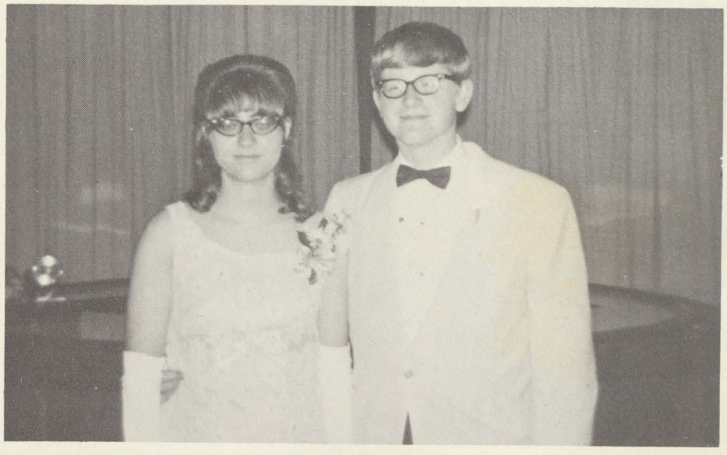


Sue Janson, John Schluckbier, Ken Wylie, Eunice Bickel, Jane Wylie, Neil Rupp are ready for an enjoyable evening.

Jane Wylie and Neil Rupp like others contemplate their last days spent as children, looking and feeling like young adults.

"Oh! Silly rabbit!"

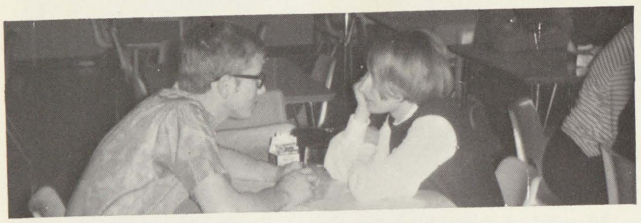
"Accidents will happen, but . . ."



Janet Reinbold and Paul Bierlein wait for the next slow series.

OO-LA-LA - Ramon Zarazua was so suave.

"Oh Lord, help me pass this test and I'll . . ."

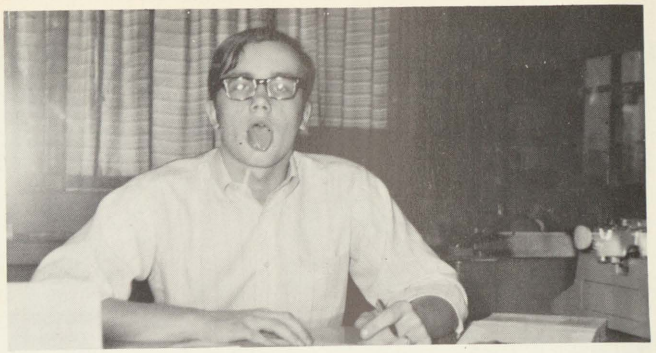


Tom Sylvester and Mary Jane Matonek seem to find the study of human nature more interesting than books.

Maureen Trombley's thoughts sure aren't on the book in front of her.

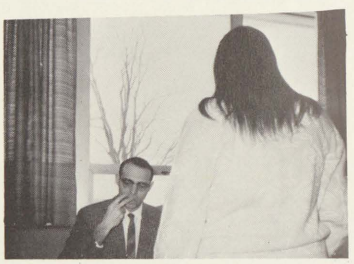
Intelligence forthcoming.

"Enjoying a Tootsie Pop doesn't mean we aren't mature enough to get married."

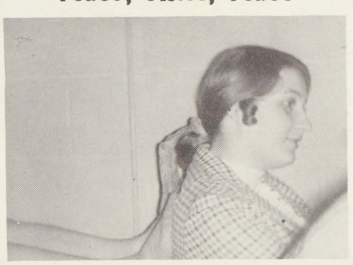


John Schluckbier expresses his Monday-Morning-Blahs verbally.

Snaps

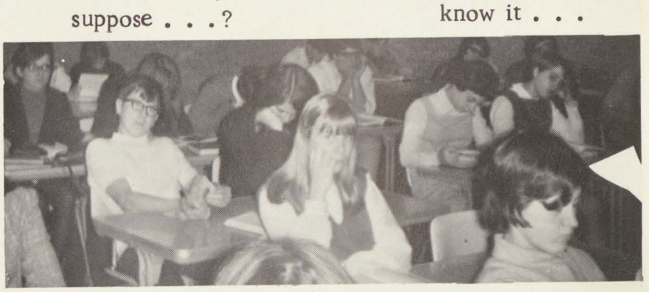


Peace, Sister, Peace

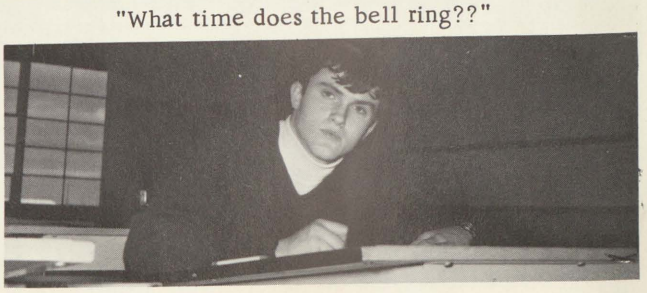


Now how do you suppose . . .?

Wouldn't you know it . . .



"What time does the bell ring??"



John Hill looks like he understands what's going on.

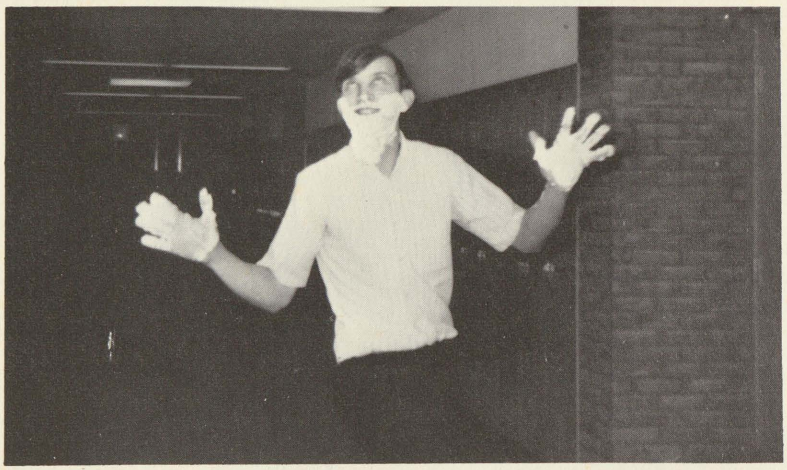
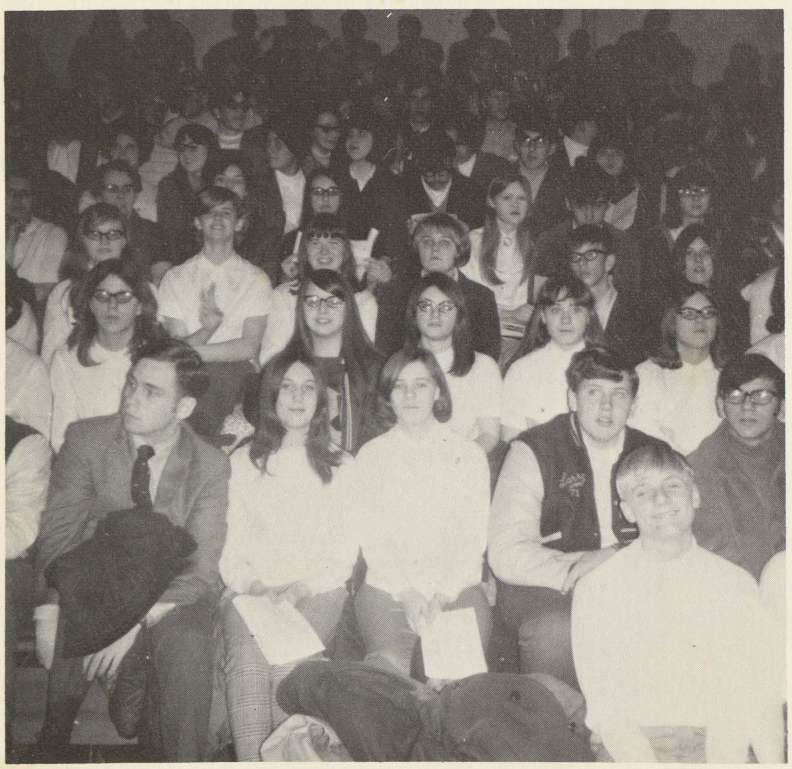
Service After the Sale

Snaps . . .

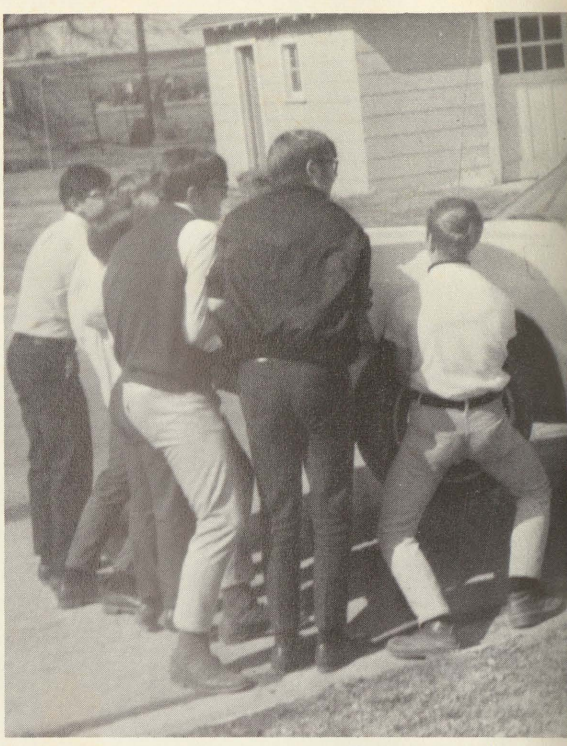


"So help me, Lord, if I'm lyin', let me foam at the mouth."

Eat it don't smash it.

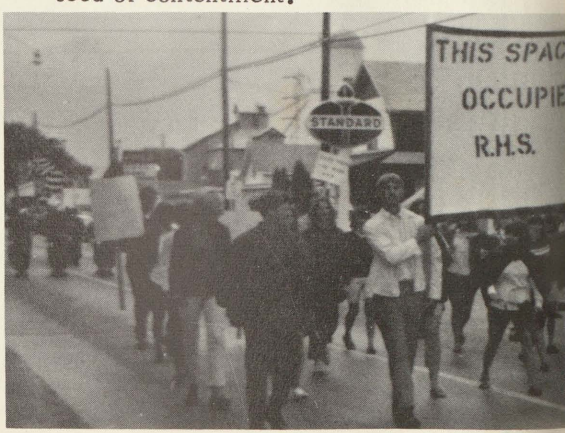


Such enthusiasm, such spirit.

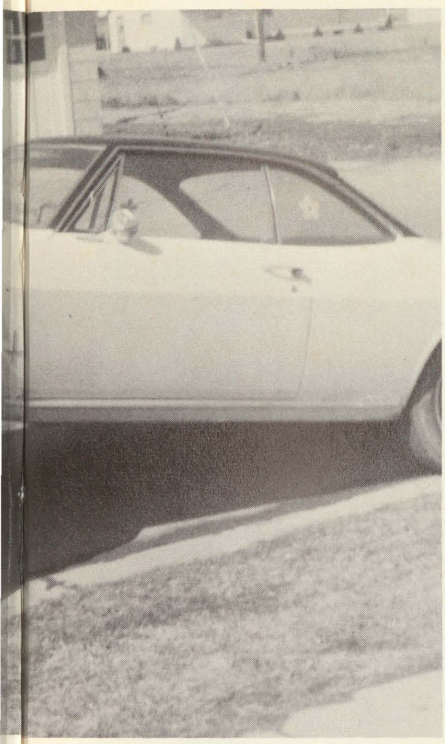


Darn cars, always

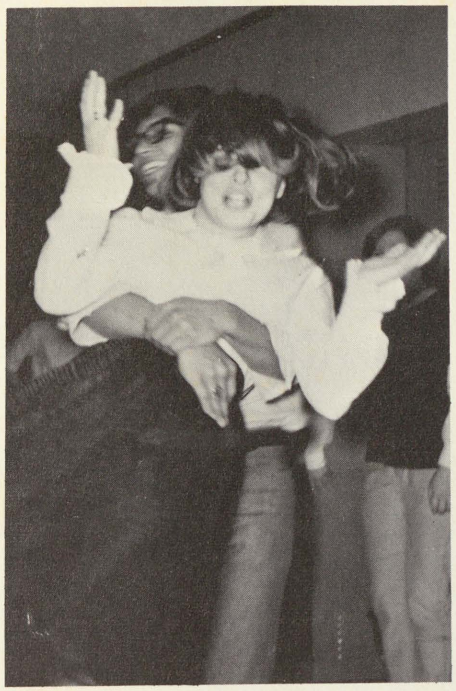
A harvest of peace is produced from a seed of contentment.



Hint, Hint



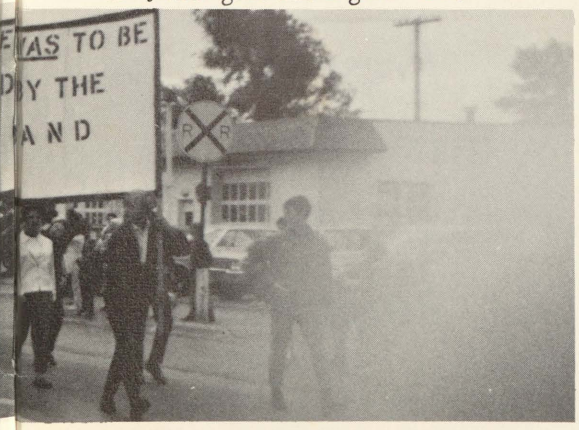
in the way.



Linda Dietzal seems to be at a loss for words.

Security is knowing your socks match.

Six junior girls kneeled by a wall; six junior girls had a great fall.



Hint!

Gail Trombley may not have the neatest locker, but her messages come across loud and clear.

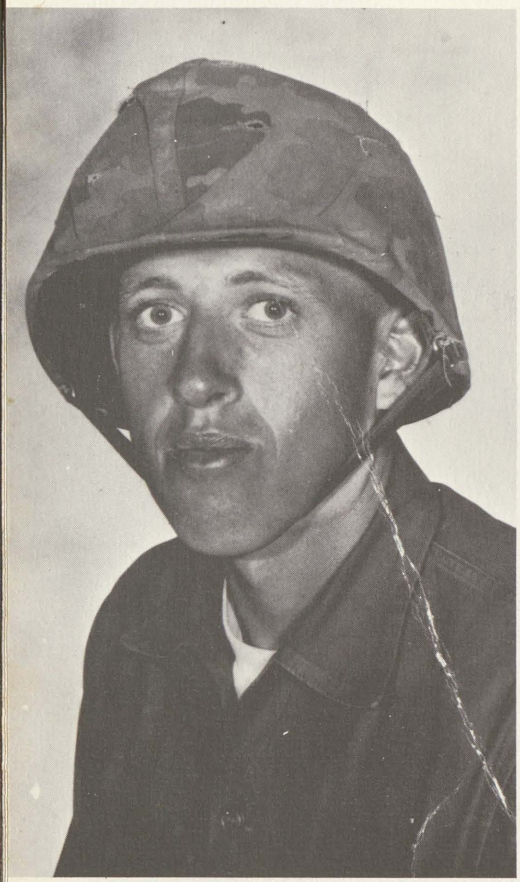
John P. Francis Award



John P. Francis

This award has been inaugurated in his memory by his classmates of the 1965 graduating year, the athletes he played with, and the coaches he played under.

John Francis was the first Reese High School graduate to sacrifice his life for our country in the current Vietnam conflict. Ronald Barcalow, a 1966 graduate of Reese, also paid the supreme sacrifice for his country.

This award is to be an annual presentation to the outstanding athlete of the graduating class who most nearly embodies those attributes which John Francis held so dear both on the athletic field and on the field of war. Those attributes of determination and desire, sportsmanship and friendliness, as all his friends will attest to, were not strangers to John P. Francis.

In high school athletics John won numerous awards for his outstanding participation in track, football, and basketball. In the latter two he was instrumental in helping his team win conference championships. In war also John contributed more than his share. He was given medals by both the South Vietnamese and the United States Governments.

John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Francis, presented the first annual John P. Francis Award to Bob Auernhammer.
